REVENUE STREAMS

What skaills sells, who pays for it, and what it costs.

Every price on this page is quoted from the published pricing page, with its path. Where a stream has no published price, the row says so rather than showing a number we have not published.

Pre-revenue. Post-MVP.

skails has no revenue to date. The plans above are published and open, and the platform they bill for is deployed and in use, but no paying customer has been signed. That is the whole reason for this round: the product is built, the distribution is not. Any figure describing future revenue is forward-looking and is identified as such wherever it appears in this kit.

What is not published here

Financial terms, revenue and detailed materials are available on request. Figures describe capacity built and operating today; forward-looking statements are identified as such. Pricing that is not already on the pricing page — certificate fees, engagement rates, campaign pricing — is quoted per engagement and is not published as a rate card. Client names and individual billing figures are not published; they are available to investors on request.

Vocabularies on this page — income source, buyer group, segment — are the controlled vocabularies of the CEMI business-profiles registry, so this page and the group registry say the same thing in the same words.
